Radio Daljir has launched a new project, Giving Voice to the Voiceless Women and Girls of Somalia, funded by The United Nations Democracy Fund (UNDEF). The project will raise community awareness on areas including education, employment opportunity, and the prevention of violence against women and girls. It will foster and instill positive social changes in gender equality in key target areas, including the city of Abudwaq and surroundings in north Galgaduud region and the city of Buuhoodle in Ayn region. Key project tools are community radio programs in which trained women and girls participate in the production and dissemination of community raising awareness programs, where project participants will formulate and implement small grant initiatives in their respective communities.
